How to find the Edith Road Workshops

The Edith Road Workshops are about half a mile south of Oxford City Centre just off the Abingdon Road.

The whole area is a residents' parking zone, and the small drive to The Workshops is shared with others, with little room for manoeuvre. If coming to our Open Studios we ask you to park in Hinksey Park unless you have a disability. There is also some 2 hour free parking in Whitehouse Road, west of Marlborough Road

The charges for parking in Hinksey Park are currently £1 for one hour and £2:20 for up to 3 hours. It's open 24 hours a day.

The Sustrans National Cycle Route "5" runs along Marlborough Road and across Hinksey Park.

If walking the Sustrans Route is more pleasant than Abingdon Road.

Buses 35, X2 and X32 Connectors, X3, 16, 46 and others stop nearby on Abingdon Road. Ask for Newton Road from the City Centre, or Lake Street from the South.
